Wednesday, October 29, 2014

4:00 – 7:00 p.m.

Program begins at 4:30 p.m.

CSRC Library and Patio – 144 Haines Hall

This year we'll celebrate the opening of the new library exhibition That's Entertainment: Dan Guerrero and the Making of a Hollywood Original, presented in collaboration with UC Santa Barbara Library's Department of Special Collections. Guerrero, a writer, producer, performer, and an outspoken activist for Latino/Chicano and LGBT issues, will give the presentation "Activism & the Arts: A Life Journey," which will speak to the relationship between social and political movements and the artists who translate upheaval into cultural record. We'll also celebrate the CSRC's new Oral Histories Series, which includes a history from Guerrero. Plus, meet the staff, purchase CSRC publications at a special rate, and enjoy food from Casablanca on the patio. Virginia Espino, Program Coordinator for Latina and Latino History at the UCLA Center for Oral History, is the curator of this event. Join us!

Co-sponsored by the UCLA Faculty Diversity Office and the Institute of American Cultures.
