

TOP STORIES

LATEST NEWS

Bustler's editor picks for architecture & design events: Los Angeles, June 12-19

By Justine Testado | Monday, Jun 12, 2017

f t e (mailto:?)

subject=Bustler's editor picks for architecture & design events: Los Angeles, June 12-19&body=http://bustler.net/news/5720/bustler-s-editor-picks-for-architecture-design-events-los-angeles-june-12-19)

Bustler's editor picks for architecture & design events: Los Angeles, June 12-19

Five winners for the fifth Cradle to Cradle Product Design Challenge

Adjaye Associates, BIG, and Sou Fujimoto Architects are among the finalists to design Edinburgh's new Ross Pavilion

Bustler's editor picks for architecture & design events: London, 20-27 June Rethinking the dome's purpose for today's world – 2017 Burnham Prize Competition call for ideas now open!

Rainville-Sangaré wins 2017 Phyllis Lambert Grant

Say hello to summer at the unveiling of "Circle Shade - 2tr4", the 2017 Folly Function winner

Six finalist teams for The Quad 2017 competition announced

Revisiting the legacy of architect Kaneji Domoto in Frank Lloyd Wright's Usonia – exhibition opens June 22

Sign up for Bustler's Email Newsletters

Email Address

- Daily
- Weekly

(<http://cdn.archinect.net/images/1500x/38/38nyn7oybr00734.jpg>)

MAK Center Schindler House in 2014, view from the rear yard. Photo by Joshua White, via MAK Center/Facebook.

Planning for another week in Los Angeles? With summer just around the corner, it's time to get out and about around town! If you're curious about where design-inclined folks are gathering around Greater L.A., Bustler has compiled a snappy list of events (<http://bustler.net/events>) that are worth checking out. Check back regularly (<http://bustler.net/news/tags/bustler-weekly-event-picks/118688>) to stay up to date.

This week's event picks put a spotlight on designers and artists re-examining the notion of domestic space and "home" — from midcentury Latino and Latino American artists to present-day landscape architects. Read on for more of Bustler's latest LA event recommendations below.