Alicia V. Nuñez

Tuesday, January 24

4:00PM

Kaplan Hall 193

Scenes of Seeing: Visualizing the Migrant Child

Alicia V. Nuñez is a Ph.D. Candidate at Northwestern University. Her dissertation examines the intersections of childhood with lived migratory experiences in literature, visual, and music culture. Her work demonstrates how difficult it is to categorize a child that tends to survive under institutional radars, in the shadows.

RSVP

UCLA College | Humanities English

UCLA Institute of American Cultures Chicano Studies Research Center