

View this email in your browser

DAILY HIGHLIGHTS

Fowler exhibition spotlights a century of collecting at UCLA

“The Map and the Territory,” featuring works from 13 of the campus’s collections, will be on display from July 1 through Oct. 24.

UCLA receives $1.45 million bequest for research related to artist Raphael Montañez Ortiz

The gift marks the largest contribution to date to the Chicano Studies Research Center.

Is one really the loneliest number?

UCLA Magazine: Professor Naomi Eisenberger, who studies how the brain and body react to relationships, looks at isolation during the pandemic.

UCLA Congo Basin Institute receives community engagement award

The award from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation “just further shows that UCLA is committed to serving the community, not just on campus, but around the world,” said Tom Smith, the institute’s founder and co-executive director.

Mark Krause appointed chief compliance and audit officer

The UCLA Law alumnus will serve as principal adviser to campus leadership on ethics, compliance and audit matters.

COVID-19 information for the UCLA campus community

Updates on UCLA’s vaccination program and the campus’s response to the pandemic.

Go to UCLA Newsroom

UCLA Newsroom on Twitter

This newsletter is published by UCLA Media Relations. Contact UCLA Newsroom by email or call 310-825-2585.

© 2021 UC Board of Regents. All rights reserved.

unsubscribe from this list update subscription preferences